Good Friday Horse Racing Ban Vote Set

Ohio Senate Schedules Ballot on Removal of Ceiling on Pensions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Senators called up for a vote tonight a bill to ban horse racing on Good Friday and planned a vote Wednesday on removal of the $65 monthly ceiling on old age pensions.

Representatives will vote tomorrow on a proposal carrying a maximum fine of $500 for the unauthorized practice of law. The bill makes such a practice a misdemeanor.

Although state employees have a holiday in observance of Washington's Birthday, legislators start another work week as usual. The House convenes at 7:30 p.m.; the Senate at 8.

Both houses stepped up the tempo of hearings on pending bills and prepared to receive another batch of new measures during the week.

Backers of supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) on a hurry-up basis renew their fight for emergency handling of a Senate-passed bill in the House. Industry and Labor Committee Tuesday.

Majority Democrats lost the emergency clause by a single vote in the Senate but hope to have it restored in the House.

Return of the emergency clause would permit simultaneous payment of SUB and state jobless benefits as soon as the proposal became law. Without the emergency provision, a 90-day wait is required.

Sponsors predicted House approval and ultimate Senate passage of the bill as an emergency. The House would end a requirement for deduction of SUB from state jobless benefits now in effect. Labor contracts for SUB cover workers mainly in the steel, rubber, automotive and other industries. Such contracts are designed to give jobless workers 2-3 of takehome pay.

The Senate Commerce and Labor Committee will start hearings Wednesday on a labor-backed bill to give workers to 60 per cent of average weekly wages while unemployed.

The measure, introduced last week, would make permanent a maximum benefit payment period of 39 weeks, allow $3 weekly for three dependents, increase employer contributions and extend coverage to all employers, instead of those with three or more employees.

Maximum jobless payments now are $33 a week with an extra allowance of $6 for two dependents. The regular payment period is 26 weeks plus an extra 13 weeks for those using up benefits during the regular period. The 13-week extension to help recession-hit workers expires April 4. Bills to extend it until action on the omnibus compensation measure are pending. The omnibus law would become effective at year-end.

Hearings on the touchy issue of abolishing capital punishment begin Wednesday in the House Judiciary Committee. Two bills are pending. One would retain execution as punishment for killers of a guard or a police officer.

Life imprisonment would be substituted for death in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair for first degree murder. Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has urged an end to capital punishment but sentiment appears divided among those expressing themselves on the issue.

Another hearing is scheduled for Wednesday by the House Industry and Labor Committee on a proposal for a $1.25 wage minimum in Ohio.

2 Cincy Bombings Linked to Racket

CINCINNATI (AP)—For the past month, police have patiently studied newspaper clippings, police reports and other data on the numbers racket. Their aim: First, to see if there is a link between violence and numbers operations.

Second, to show City Council the need for a stiff anti-numbers law. Two bombings in the city Saturday night dramatically underscored their research. They touched off a massive police roundup that officers say may crack down on numbers operations in greater Cincinnati.

Investigators said the two apparent targets of the blasts—Peter Andrews, 30, and Mrs. Sue Bohannon, 42—were charged with promoting a scheme of chance.

Police Sunday questioned about 100 persons and released them. Officers arrested nine others but

Dulles Gets Third X-Ray Treatment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gets his third X-ray treatment for cancer today after a respite during which he had two discussions on world affairs.

While Dulles was talking about the international situation Sunday with Vice President Richard M. Nixon and later with his brother, Allen W. Dulles, several senators were disagreeing with a suggestion that the secretary resign.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) made the suggestion Saturday in St. Louis. He said he didn't think Dulles could run the State Department from a hospital.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) said later "Secretary Dulles is a patriot and I am sure he realizes the essential soundness of the suggestion made by Sen. Symington."

But Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic floor leader, said he regards Dulles as almost indispensable at this time. Sen. Homer Caphart (R-Ind) said Symington was carrying partisan politics too far. He called Symington's suggestion very cruel and unwarranted.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) said he saw no need for making a replacement. He said Dulles "may bounce back. If anyone can, I believe he will."

DiSalle Opposes Move To Nullify Supreme Court Desegregation Ruling

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle today opposed a move to nullify the U.S. Supreme Court's desegregation ruling.

The Democratic governor expressed his disapproval in a letter to the Ohio Legislature. The letter followed a request to support a resolution by the Georgia Legislature for a constitutional convention.

The convention was proposed to sponsor a change in the Constitution that would give each state the right to control its public schools. Such a constitutional amendment would require ratification by two-thirds of the states.

"I sent a letter to the Ohio Legislature disapproving the proposed amendment," DiSalle told newsmen, "because I think it is a ruse of some people to circumvent the Supreme Court's desegregation decision. We must nail this early. It is a dangerous thing because it sounds good. Everybody wants to control their own schools."

DiSalle turned aside suggestions that he might have presidential possibilities and said he was unconcerned about the effect of his stand on the Georgia proposal.

U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young, Cleveland Democrat, last week termed DiSalle the governor most likely to receive consideration for the party's presidential nomination next year.

The governor said he has given no thought to a "favorite son" role and that he is not even sure of being a candidate for delegate to the convention.

DiSalle said he will not contact members of Congress to urge extension of temporary jobless benefits.

He said Democrat Gov. Foster filed no charges against them immediately.

Investigators said the bombings were apparently linked to the shooting death—gangland style—of Mrs. Lillie May Bohannon, 52, Nov. 17. Officers said she was an important figure in numbers racket operations.

Numbers—sometimes called policy—is a form of gambling where a small amount, five or ten cents, is wagered on a combination of three numbers. To win, the numbers must match certain specified numbers published daily, such as the stock, bond and curb sales in New York for the day. But a nickel bet might bring $35 because of high odds.

Vice Squad Lt. Carl A. Lind, who did added research on numbers in his spare time over the past month, said in a confidential report last August that clearing houses for the numbers racket "are all located in Newport, Ky."

The first blast Saturday night injured Mrs. Sue Bohannon and her two children. They were released after treatment at General Hospital. The second blast caused damage to a home but no injuries.

Marshal Robert Sommers of the arson squad said dynamite may have caused the first blast and the explosion was set "with intention of blowing up the house."

Police said Andrews gave these details:

A truce was arranged between three big numbers operators after the murder of Mrs. Lillie Bohannon. Andrews worked for the combine one week and then pulled out, taking some workers, including Mrs. Sue Bohannon, sister-in-law of the slain woman. Andrews said the bombing was apparently revenge because others believed he was taking too much business.

There is a direct link, Father Sullivan said, between juvenile delinquency and the horror episodes now being shown on television. He did not say what form the bishops' campaign would take, but he said it would be announced soon.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Roman Catholic bishops in the United States soon will launch a campaign against the "cult of violence, horror and suggestiveness in television and the movies."

This was disclosed Sunday by the Rev. Patrick J. Sullivan, assistant executive secretary of the Legion of Decency.

There is a direct link, Father Sullivan said, between juvenile delinquency and the horror episodes now being shown on television. He did not say what form the bishops' campaign would take, but he said it would be announced soon.

Curculio of Massachusetts made request. Curculio, in a letter to the President, called for a committee to investigate the labor situation that would result when temporary benefits end.

Proposals are pending in the Ohio Legislature to prolong the 13-week extension of jobless benefits past April. Unemployed workers exhausting regular 26-week benefits are eligible for the extra 13 weeks.

Another pending bill would make the 39-week period permanent in Ohio.

The governor said he plans no recommendation to the Legislature on Ohio's "blue laws" restricting commercial activity on the Sabbath.

He said a report from Highway Director Everett S. Preston shows that only 326 million dollars worth

900 Are Freed On Cyprus

Greeks Celebrate Release of EOKA

NICOSIA (AP)—Greek Cypriots celebrated wildly as the British turned loose more than 900 political prisoners Sunday.

The detainees had been held without trial under emergency regulations as suspected members of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground which has been waging a terrorist campaign against the British since 1945.

The government announced all detention camps on the island were being closed and emergency regulations lifted. The action had been assured by the agreement last Thursday in London to give Cyprus independence, but the release of the prisoners came quicker than expected.

Hundreds of other Cypriots imprisoned after conviction of violating the emergency regulations were not affected by the first amnesty. But many of these are expected to get reduced terms or release soon.

The barbed wire gates of the Mammari and Kokkinotrimithia detention camps swung open shortly after 3 p.m. Sunday. A stream of buses, jammed with detainees and with some riding on the roof, headed for Nicosia. Greek flags and EOKA banners were unfurled. The detainees banged on the sides of the buses, shouting "Long live Makarios" and "Long live EOKA."

Weeping relatives embraced the detainees at Nicosia's Phaneromeni Cathedral, where a thanksgiving service was held. Thousands packed the streets.

In the only serious incident reported, a crowd of Turkish Cypriots in Pergamos village stoned a convoy of detainees and their families. A 7-year-old Greek boy got a serious head wound.

The religious leader of the Turkish Cypriots, Mufti Dana, expressed deep sorrow over the incident. Greek Cypriot Bishop Anthimos said he was "sure this is the work of irresponsible elements."

Ike Readies New Foreign Aid Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is reported ready to make an even stronger fight than last year for support of his $3,930,000,000 foreign aid request.

Some Republican leaders say they are convinced he would veto and demand reconsideration of any bill which cut deeply into the program he proposed.

Democratic leaders have indicated they may slice the mutual assistance program to offset increases in other outlays above the president's requests in his 77-billion-dollar budget.

With this in mind, Eisenhower reportedly has told associates he fears the United States might eventually be pushed back into a garrisoned hemisphere unless foreign military and economic aid is carried on at a high level.

In talks to Republican leaders at White House conferences, Eisenhower is said to have cited Viet Nam, with 125,000 men under arms, as an example of a country where defense support is absolutely necessary.

The President's reiterated statement has had the effect of whipping up more Republican backing for the program than has been available sometimes in the past.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has claimed, for instance, that he helped restore funds to last year's program after bipartisan votes in the House to cut the amounts.

Macmillan Holds Parley With Khrush on Arms

Typing Class Prepares Easter Seal Letters

Chewing on chocolate creams is not normal procedure for the typing classes at Circleville High School—at least not during class period. But this is just what happened last week—and with the approval of the teacher, Mrs. Paul Brobst.

It seems that the young typists put their fingers to work for the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. They addressed and stuffed 7,000 envelopes with the 1959 crop of Easter Seal's for Circleville and Pickaway County residents.

In gratitude for the work accomplished so efficiently, the society sent five boxes of candy to the classes which ate them with the same efficiency which they shared in typing.

Heading up the 1959 Easter Seal drive is Robert Wood, 501 N. Pickaway St. Tuned to the needs of crippled children and adults, the campaign in Circleville and Pickaway County will open Friday and continue through Easter Sunday, March 29.

Yesterday Wood announced the committee leaders who will spearhead planning and follow through for the appeal which benefits crippled children and adults.

Mrs. C. O. Schweizer will be in charge of the Lily Parade to be held on March 21 with the SOS Club girls from the Circleville High School as her helpers. Sheriff Charles Radcliff and his deputies will distribute contribution cans in the county.

City publicity will be handled by Mrs. Bernard Trecker and the Rev. William G. Huber, while county publicity will be under the supervision of Miss Lafa Chenoweth.

Circleville Graduate Killed In Columbus Auto Collision

Miss Juanita Jo Adams, 22, Columbus, a 1955 graduate of Circleville High School, was killed in an auto collision at 8 p. m. Saturday in Columbus.

Miss Adams, a bridal consultant at Cole of Columbus, Inc., was pronounced dead at St. Anthony Hospital. The hospital said she died of head and internal injuries.

Columbus Police said Miss Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilda Adams, Columbus, was driving alone and apparently lost control of her tiny foreign car, an Isotta 300.

Officers said her auto veered left of the center line and struck the left front of a car driven by Larry B. Hatfield, 21, Columbus. Hatfield was not held.

MISS ADAMS was born July 17, 1936, in Webbville, Ky. In addition to her parents, she is survived by four sisters: Mrs. Wauleka Wilbanks, Columbus, Oleta, Delpha and Hilda, all of the home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston, with Rev. Paul Lindsey officiating. Burial will be in Springbank Cemetery near Yellow Bud.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning at 4 p. m. today.

Local Retail Businessmen To Hear Hale

Pierre D. Hale, manager of the Columbus Retail Merchants Assn., will speak at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Circleville Elks Home.

All local and area businessmen are urged to attend the meeting, the first called by the local Retail Merchants Committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Hal Dickinson, chairman of the committee, has urged all businessmen to attend, regardless of whether or not they belong to the Chamber.

More than 200 postcards have been sent to local and area persons who should be interested in the activities of the local retail merchants group. A dynamic program is planned for the coming year, Dickinson said.

Hale will speak on the operation of the Columbus Retail Merchants Assn. He also will outline a six point membership service policy and tell of the cooperation between local, state and national retail groups.

Dr. Miller is chief pathologist at the Mary Hitchcock Hospital in Hanover and a professor of pathology at Dartmouth Medical School. He is the father of two children, one of whom, Ralph Jr., was an Olympic ski champion.

Dr. Quinn is an instructor of medicine at Dartmouth Medical School. He also is the father of two children.

Pain Feared Lost In New England Snow

BERLIN, N.H. (AP)—Scores of volunteers today plowed through deep snow on the White Mountains while spotters flew overhead in a search for two doctors missing since last Saturday on a 70-mile mercy flight.

Authorities expressed fear for the safety of Dr. Ralph E. Miller, 60, an experienced pilot, and Dr. Robert E. Quinn, 32, both members of the Dartmouth Medical School faculty.

They disappeared at 3:30 p.m. Saturday while flying in a single engine plane from Berlin to Lebanon. They had gone to Berlin to treat a heart patient.

The temperature Saturday and Sunday nights was about 15 degrees below zero.

Guards posted on Sunday night said they saw no sign of any outdoor fires in the mountainous region. Authorities said it would be difficult to survive outdoors for more than 24 hours.

Some 40 planes and a helicopter flew over the area near Lebanon and Whitefield. They were mustered from the Air Force, New Hampshire National Guard, Civil Air Patrol, and from among civilian fliers.

The Dartmouth Outing Club special rescue squad led the ground search. The group is composed of expert skiers and includes two doctors, Samuel Adams, son of former presidential aide Sherman Adams, heads the squad.

Kremlin Talks Last 2½ Hours

Prime Ministers Spend Weekend at Red Villa

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and Premier Khrushchev met for two and a half hours in the Kremlin today and apparently discussed the disarmament deadlock between the West and the Russians.

Only one adviser—disarmament expert Con O'Neill—accompanied Macmillan, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly to the first formal conference of the British delegation's visit.

The official Soviet news agency in a brief dispatch after the meeting said that Macmillan and Khrushchev had "friendly conversations."

Macmillan and Khrushchev got down to formal Kremlin talks after a get-acquainted weekend in the country.

The British prime minister got second billing in the Moscow press however. The Communist party organ Pravda devoted top space to an editorial lauding the Red army—which marked its 41st anniversary Sunday—and gave only brief mention to the Khrushchev-Macmillan parley.

Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd returned to Moscow Sunday night after a weekend as guests of Premier and Mrs. Khrushchev at the rambling 700-story villa 50 miles southeast of Moscow.

A spokesman for the two leaders said they discussed subjects of mutual interest in lengthy informal sessions before and after lunch. "The two great men got on very well together," a British source said.

It was assumed West Berlin's future and the issue of German unity were brought up.

With Khrushchev were Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, a recent visitor to the United States, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Jacob Malik, Soviet ambassador to Britain. The British ambassador to Moscow, Sir Patrick Reilly, completed the British party.

Macmillan and his party called first at the Kremlin today on the deputy president of the Soviet Union, S. R. Rashidov, who also is president of the Uzbek Republic. President Klementi Voroshilov has been ill.

Federal Judge To Rule on Voter Dispute

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Federal charges of long standing anti-Negro voting policies in rural Macon County get their first court airing in a hearing today.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.'s ruling may determine whether the Justice Department can proceed with its suit to enjoin Macon voter registrars from discriminating against Negroes.

The hearing is on a government motion to forbid Macon County officials from destroying old voter registration records which federal attorneys want for evidence.

A new state law authorizes all counties to throw away questionnaires filled out by voter applicants who were later rejected. The questionnaires are used to determine if applicants are eligible to vote.

But the real point of the hearing is to determine at whom any injunction would be directed. State attorneys say the last two Macon registrars, E. P. Livingston and State Rep. Grady Rogers resigned last December and therefore there is no one to issue a court order against.

But federal attorneys named Livingston and Rogers as defendants, contending they cannot legally resign until their successors have been appointed.

If Johnson rules Livingston and Rogers are no longer members of the Board of Registrars, he must decide whether the government can proceed with its suit without specific defendants.

The detainees had been held without trial under emergency regulations as suspected members of EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground which has been waging a terrorist campaign against the British since 1945.

The government announced all detention camps on the island were being closed and emergency regulations lifted. The action had been assured by the agreement last Thursday in London to give Cyprus independence, but the release of the prisoners came quicker than expected.

Hundreds of other Cypriots imprisoned after conviction of violating the emergency regulations were not affected by the first amnesty. But many of these are expected to get reduced terms or release soon.

The barred wire gates of the Mammari and Kokkinotrimithia detention camps swung open shortly after 3 p.m. Sunday. A stream of buses, jammed with detainees and with some riding on the roof, headed for Nicosia. Greek flags and EOKA banners were unfurled. The detainees banged on the sides of the buses, shouting "Long live Makarios" and "Long live EOKA."

Weeping relatives embraced the detainees at Nicosia's Phaneromeni Cathedral, where a thanksgiving service was held. Thousands packed the streets.

In the only serious incident reported, a crowd of Turkish Cypriots in Pergamos village stoned a convoy of detainees and their families. A 7-year-old Greek boy got a serious head wound.

The religious leader of the Turkish Cypriots, Mufti Dana, expressed deep sorrow over the incident. Greek Cypriot Bishop Anthimos said he was "sure this is the work of irresponsible elements."

Ike Readies New Foreign Aid Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower is reported ready to make an even stronger fight than last year for support of his $3,930,000,000 foreign aid request.

Some Republican leaders say they are convinced he would veto and demand reconsideration of any bill which cut deeply into the program he proposed.

Democratic leaders have indicated they may slice the mutual assistance program to offset increases in other outlays above the president's requests in his 77-billion-dollar budget.

With this in mind, Eisenhower reportedly has told associates he fears the United States might eventually be pushed back into a garrisoned hemisphere unless foreign military and economic aid is carried on at a high level.

In talks to Republican leaders at White House conferences, Eisenhower is said to have cited Viet Nam, with 125,000 men under arms, as an example of a country where defense support is absolutely necessary.

The President's reiterated statement has had the effect of whipping up more Republican backing for the program than has been available sometimes in the past.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas has claimed, for instance, that he helped restore funds to last year's program after bipartisan votes in the House to cut the amounts.

Typing Class Prepares Easter Seal Letters

Chewing on chocolate creams is not normal procedure for the typing classes at Circleville High School—at least not during class period. But this is just what happened last week—and with the approval of the teacher, Mrs. Paul Brobst.

It seems that the young typists put their fingers to work for the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults. They addressed and stuffed 7,000 envelopes with the 1959 crop of Easter Seal's for Circleville and Pickaway County residents.

In gratitude for the work accomplished so efficiently, the society sent five boxes of candy to the classes which ate them with the same efficiency which they shared in typing.

Heading up the 1959 Easter Seal drive is Robert Wood, 501 N. Pickaway St. Tuned to the needs of crippled children and adults, the campaign in Circleville and Pickaway County will open Friday and continue through Easter Sunday, March 29.

Yesterday Wood announced the committee leaders who will spearhead planning and follow through for the appeal which benefits crippled children and adults.

Mrs. C. O. Schweizer will be in charge of the Lily Parade to be held on March 21 with the SOS Club girls from the Circleville High School as her helpers. Sheriff Charles Radcliff and his deputies will distribute contribution cans in the county.

City publicity will be handled by Mrs. Bernard Trecker and the Rev. William G. Huber, while county publicity will be under the supervision of Miss Lafa Chenoweth.

Circleville Graduate Killed In Columbus Auto Collision

Miss Juanita Jo Adams, 22, Columbus, a 1955 graduate of Circleville High School, was killed in an auto collision at 8 p. m. Saturday in Columbus.

Miss Adams, a bridal consultant at Cole of Columbus, Inc., was pronounced dead at St. Anthony Hospital. The hospital said she died of head and internal injuries.

Columbus Police said Miss Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilda Adams, Columbus, was driving alone and apparently lost control of her tiny foreign car, an Isotta 300.

Officers said her auto veered left of the center line and struck the left front of a car driven by Larry B. Hatfield, 21, Columbus. Hatfield was not held.

MISS ADAMS was born July 17, 1936, in Webbville, Ky. In addition to her parents, she is survived by four sisters: Mrs. Wauleka Wilbanks, Columbus, Oleta, Delpha and Hilda, all of the home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Hill Funeral Home, Kingston, with Rev. Paul Lindsey officiating. Burial will be in Springbank Cemetery near Yellow Bud.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning at 4 p. m. today.

Local Retail Businessmen To Hear Hale

Hal Dickinson, chairman of the committee, has urged all businessmen to attend, regardless of whether or not they belong to the Chamber.

More than 200 postcards have been sent to local and area persons who should be interested in the activities of the local retail merchants group. A dynamic program is planned for the coming year, Dickinson said.

Hale will speak on the operation of the Columbus Retail Merchants Assn. He also will outline a six point membership service policy and tell of the cooperation between local, state and national retail groups.

Wife, 17, Floors 170-Pound 'Wolf'

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Mrs. Billy Chatterton was strutting home alone when a young man grabbed her by the shoulder.

"Come here, baby," he said roughly.

Without a word, the trim wife of a Navy judo instructor twisted free, seized his left arm in a judo hold and threw him over her back.

He landed flat on his back, 170 pounds of him.

Exasperated by the tear on her blouse, Mrs. Chatterton pointed a finger at her assailant and warned: "Quit following me."

"Don't worry, lady," said the bruised male.

Mrs. Chatterton reported the incident to the police.

Kremlin Talks Last 2 1/2 Hours

Prime Ministers Spend Weekend at Red Villa

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and Premier Khrushchev met for two and a half hours in the Kremlin today and apparently discussed the disarmament deadlock between the West and the Russians.

Only one adviser—disarmament expert Con O'Neill—accompanied Macmillan, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly to the first formal conference of the British delegation since the war.

The official Soviet news agency in a brief dispatch after the meeting said that Macmillan and Khrushchev had "friendly conversations."

Macmillan and Khrushchev got down to formal Kremlin talks after a get-acquainted weekend in the country.

The British prime minister got second billing in the Moscow press however. The Communist party organ Pravda devoted top space to an editorial lauding the Red army—which marked its 41st anniversary Sunday—and gave only brief mention to the Khrushchev-Macmillan parley.

Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd returned to Moscow Sunday night after a weekend as guests of Premier and Mrs. Khrushchev at the rambling Tsvetnoy villa 50 miles southeast of Moscow.

A spokesman for the two leaders said they discussed questions of mutual interest in lengthy informal sessions before and after lunch. "The two great men got on very well together," a British source said.

It was assumed West Berlin's future and the issue of German unity were brought up.

With Khrushchev were Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, a recent visitor to the United States, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Jacob Malik, Soviet ambassador to Britain. The British ambassador to Moscow, Sir Patrick Reilly, completed the British party.

Macmillan and his party called first at the Kremlin today on the deputy president of the Soviet Union, S. R. Kashidov, who also is president of the Uzbek Republic. President Klementi Voroshilov has been ill.

Federal Judge To Rule on Voter Dispute

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Federal charges of long standing anti-Negro voting policies in rural Macon County get their first court airing in a hearing today.

U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr.'s ruling may determine whether the Justice Department can proceed with its suit to enjoin Macon voter registrars from discriminating against Negroes.

The hearing is on a government motion to forbid Macon County officials from destroying old voter registration records which federal attorneys want for evidence.

A new state law authorizes all counties to throw away questionnaires filled out by voter applicants who were later rejected. The questionnaires are used to determine if applicants are eligible to vote.

But the real point of the hearing is to determine at whom an injunction would be directed. State attorneys say the last two Macon registrars, E. P. Livingston and State Rep. Grady Rogers resigned last December and therefore there is no one to issue a court order against.

But federal attorneys named Livingston and Rogers as defendants, contending they cannot legally resign until their successors have been appointed.

If Johnson rules Livingston and Rogers are no longer members of the Board of Registrars, he must decide whether the government can proceed with its suit without specific defendants.

'58 Tangible Property Tax Hits $372,165

Pickaway County tangible personal property tax collected last year amounted to $372,165, it was reported today by the State Auditor's office.

These collections, levied primarily on manufacturing equipment, rose to $181,377,886 in Ohio's 88 counties, where county auditors make collections.

Amount of this tax signifies Ohio's continued forward surge as a giant among the industrial states. This $181 million figure was a substantial increase over the previous year which set a record.

The County distributed the amount as follows: schools, $241,415; municipalities, $28,193; county, $59,993; townships, $31,536, and state, $11,027.

THE 1958 distribution exceeded that of 1957 by over 22 1/2 million. Tangible personal tax collections in 1957 netted $158,712,250. And that was well above 1956—by more than $24 million.

Biggest portion of this distribution went to schools. They received $110,277,468. Figured on a statewide basis that's just short of 61 per cent. Individual counties would be higher or lower. Schools use the tangible personal tax money for operational and debt retiring services.

Other shares of the distribution on a statewide basis were as follows: municipalities, $39,482,320; counties, $23,679,056; townships, $4,160,395; and state, $3,778,648.

State Auditor officials point out that the state's share of this tax has more than trebled over 1957 when it received $1,178,861. Part of this is reflected by the 0.4 mill tax that was approved by the state's electorate for the purpose of retiring Korean Conflict bonus bonds.

COLUMBUS (AP) — Accidents over the weekend in Ohio were fatal to 14 persons. Eleven died in traffic and three from miscellaneous causes.

Termite Quacks Bilk Public Of Millions, Chamber Warns

With spring around the corner, homeowners in this area were warned today by Darrell Hatfield, executive secretary of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, to be on guard against self-styled termite control "experts" and quacks who annually bilk the public of an estimated one hundred million dollars.

Emphasizing that there are many termite control firms which offer honest and competent service, Hatfield said that public ignorance of termites and their control has made it relatively easy for the minority of swindlers in this field to get away with their worthless treatments. The text of Hatfield's statement follows:

"Everyone must be concerned about the possibility of a termite infestation in his home. Termites are a menace to be reckoned with, but if their presence is suspected there is no reason for alarm.

"Quack operators and self-styled 'experts' frequently use the fear appeal to scare homeowners into using their services before any check of their reliability can be made. They create the impression that the house is apt to fall asunder the next moment unless corrective treatment is started at once. Emphasis upon fear and the need to hurry are the racketeers' chief persuaders.

"Homeowners should never let themselves be pressured into authorizing termite control work for fear their house will collapse unless repair work is started at once. Presence of termites in a house seldom constitutes an emergency. Any additional damage done in a few weeks or even a few months will make little difference. Homeowners invariably have plenty of time to buy termite control service with the same care and discrimination that is necessary in the purchase of any other home maintenance service.

"HOMEOWNERS confronted with a termite problem should become informed on the subject. Reliable information can be secured from such sources as the United States Department of Agriculture, the Department of Entomology of the State University, the County Agricultural Agent and the Chamber of Commerce.

"There are many companies which offer the public an honest and competent program of termite control. Prudent homeowners will take the time and trouble to investigate the reliability of a firm before authorizing any work. Reputable firms welcome investigation. They are able and willing to give references to people for whom they have done work. Reliable firms will gladly give a written statement of the work they propose to do and will give time to consider it.

"Beware of the itinerant swindlers who go from door to door offering free inspections and who attempt to frighten you into authorizing an immediate job. Be on guard against the faker who poses as a government inspector and threatens he will have to tear the house down unless the termite infestation is corrected.

"It makes little difference to racketeers whether termites are present or not. They have been known to quote prices for jobs where no termites existed. Swindlers also have been known to carry termites with them and plant them on the premises so as to be able to 'prove' an infestation.

"The sharper may disarm a gullible homeowner by quoting a price per gallon and estimating the number of gallons of chemicals to be used. When the bill is rendered the gallons allegedly used may be many in excess of the estimate but the homeowner will have no way of checking.

"The quack may quote cheaper prices than a legitimate operator and may offer more comprehensive guarantees. However, when the homeowner seeks fulfillment from a quack he will look in vain. "Homeowners can be sure they are dealing with a reliable firm by investigating—before investing in termite control services. The Chamber of Commerce will gladly assist local residents in checking on firms offering such services."

U.S. Eyes New Plane Slated To Carry Troopers to Europe

PANAMA, (AP)—The Air Force expects to begin receiving soon a new model of its C130 transport plane which conceivably could speed paratroopers direct from U.S. bases to a battle drop in Europe.

A new model of the C130 transport, due for delivery within the next few months, will have a non-stop range up to 4,000 miles, compared with about 2,300 miles for the present C130s.

The Air Force currently has transports capable of the longer range, the C124s. They can carry tremendous loads for considerable distances. But they lack several critical features.

Powered by conventional piston engines, they are slower than the C130s driven by jet turbines linked to propellers. Their troop carrying compartments are not pressurized to make possible carrying passengers at high altitudes which are safer in combat and often make possible higher speeds. Moreover, the giant C124s are not intended for use by paratroopers, for jumps into combat, as are the C130s.

The Army would like to test out its ability to fly a whole battle group of paratroopers (about 1,400 men) to Europe and parachute them down directly into a mock battle.

Maj. Gen. Robert F. Sink, head of the Strategic Army Command, was asked by newsmen if there were any plans to make a European test similar to the just concluded exercise Banyan Tree, in which 1,300 men were flown from the United States and dropped into Panama. He said "I have had a letter in on that for the last year and a half" with Army headquarters at the Pentagon.

Sink and Lt. Gen. Ridgely Galt, chief of the Combined Caribbean Command, estimate it would take about 700 aircraft to airlift an entire airborne division of 12,000 men.

'58 Tangible Property Tax Hits $372,165

Pickaway County tangible personal property tax collected last year amounted to $372,165, it was reported today by the State Auditor's office.

These collections, levied primarily on manufacturing equipment, rose to $181,377,886 in Ohio's 88 counties, where county auditors make collections.

Amount of this tax signifies Ohio's continued forward surge as a giant among the industrial states. This $181 million figure was a substantial increase over the previous year which set a record.

The County distributed the amount as follows: schools, $241,415; municipalities, $28,193; county, $59,993; townships, $31,536, and state, $11,027.

THE 1958 distribution exceeded that of 1957 by over $22½ million. Tangible personal tax collections in 1957 netted $158,712,250. And that was well above 1956—by more than $24 million.

Biggest portion of this distribution went to schools. They received $110,277,468. Figured on a statewide basis that's just short of 61 per cent. Individual counties would be higher or lower. Schools use the tangible personal tax money for operational and debt retiring services.

Other shares of the distribution on a statewide basis were as follows: municipalities, $39,482,329; counties, $23,679,056; townships, $4,160,395, and state, $3,778,648.

State Auditor officials point out that the state's share of this tax has more than trebled over 1957 when it received $1,178,861. Part of this is reflected by the 0.4 mill tax that was approved by the state's electorate for the purpose of retiring Korean Conflict bonus bonds.

Termite Quacks Bilk Public Of Millions, Chamber Warns

With spring around the corner, homeowners in this area were warned today by Darrell Hatfield, executive secretary of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce, to be on guard against self-styled termite control "experts" and quacks who annually bilk the public of an estimated one hundred million dollars.

Emphasizing that there are many termite control firms which offer honest and competent service, Hatfield said that public ignorance of termites and their control has made it relatively easy for the minority of swindlers in this field to get away with their worthless treatments. The text of Hatfield's statement follows:

"Everyone must be concerned about the possibility of a termite infestation in his home. Termites are a menace to be reckoned with, but if their presence is suspected there is no reason for alarm.

"Quack operators and self-styled 'experts' frequently use the fear appeal to scare homeowners into using their services before any check of their reliability can be made. They create the impression that the house is apt to fall asunder the next moment unless corrective treatment is started at once. Emphasis upon fear and the need to hurry are the racketeers' chief persuaders.

"Homeowners should never let themselves be pressured into authorizing termite control work for fear their house will collapse unless repair work is started at once. Presence of termites in a house seldom constitutes an emergency. Any additional damage done in a few weeks or even a few months will make little difference. Homeowners invariably have plenty of time to buy termite control service with the same care and discrimination that is necessary in the purchase of any other home maintenance service.

"HOME OWNERS confronted with a termite problem should be informed on the subject. Reliable information can be secured from such sources as the United States Department of Agriculture, the Department of Entomology of the State University, the County Agricultural Agent and the Chamber of Commerce.

"There are many companies which offer the public an honest and competent program of termite control. Prudent homeowners will take the time and trouble to investigate the reliability of a firm before authorizing any work. Reputable firms welcome investigation. They are able and willing to give references to people for whom they have done work. Reliable firms will gladly give a written statement of the work they propose to do and will give time to consider it.

"Beware of the itinerant swindlers who go from door to door offering free inspections and who attempt to frighten you into authorizing an immediate job. Be on guard against the faker who poses as a government inspector and threatens he will have to tear the house down unless the termite infestation is corrected.

"It makes little difference to racketeers whether termites are present or not. They have been known to quote prices for jobs where no termites existed. Swindlers also have been known to carry termites with them and plant them on the premises so as to be able to 'prove' an infestation.

"The sharper may disarm a gullible homeowner by quoting a price per gallon and estimating the number of gallons of chemicals to be used. When the bill is rendered the gallons allegedly used may be many in excess of the estimate but the homeowner will have no way of checking.

"The quack may quote cheaper prices than a legitimate operator and may offer more comprehensive guarantees. However, when the homeowner seeks fulfillment from a quack he will look in vain. "Homeowners can be sure they are dealing with a reliable firm by investigating—before investing in termite control services. The Chamber of Commerce will gladly assist local residents in checking on firms offering such services."

U.S. Eyes New Plane Slated To Carry Troopers to Europe

PANAMA, (AP)—The Air Force expects to begin receiving soon a new model of its C130 transport plane which conceivably could speed paratroopers direct from U.S. bases to a battle drop in Europe.

A new model of the C130 transport, due for delivery within the next few months, will have a non-stop range up to 4,000 miles, compared with about 2,300 miles for the present C130s.

The Air Force currently has transports capable of the longer range, the C124s. They can carry tremendous loads for considerable distances. But they lack several critical features.

Powered by conventional piston engines, they are slower than the C130s driven by jet turbines linked to propellers. Their troop carrying compartments are not pressurized to make possible carrying passengers at high altitudes which are safer in combat and often make possible higher speeds. Moreover, the giant C124s are not intended for use by paratroopers, for jumps into combat, as are the C130s.

The Army would like to test out its ability to fly a whole battle group of paratroopers (about 1,400 men) to Europe and parachute them down directly into a mock battle.

Maj. Gen. Robert F. Sink, head of the Strategic Army Command, was asked by newsmen if there were any plans to make a European test similar to the just concluded exercise Banyan Tree, in which 1,300 men were flown from the United States and dropped into Panama. He said "I have had a letter in on that for the last year and a half" with Army headquarters at the Pentagon.

Sink and Lt. Gen. Ridgely Galt, chief of the Combined Caribbean Command, estimate it would take about 700 aircraft to airlift an entire airborne division of 12,000 men.

Behind Castro's Executions Is Shocking Story

Editor's Note — For almost two months the guns of firing squads have been echoing along the length of Cuba. Dispatches tell of new executions almost daily, with perhaps a terse and superficial explanation. What is the underlying story? An Associated Press correspondent has dug into it, looking at the records and interviewing scores of Cubans. Robert Berrellez comes from Arizona and speaks Spanish fluently. This is the first of three stories he will write this week on the atrocities of the Batista regime and their aftermath.

400 Avco Strikers Study New Contract

CINCINNATI (AP)—A group of 400 striking Electrical Workers Union employees vote Wednesday on a proposed new contract with AVCO Manufacturing Co.'s Evendale plant. A tentative agreement was reached Sunday night by negotiators in the month-long walk-out. A seniority issue was reportedly the chief issue.

George Washington was appointed commander-in-chief of American Continental Army Forces on June 15, 1775.

Nag Trapped In Hay Loft Back in Stall

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Horse lovers in Geauga County can relax. That year-old filly trapped in a second-story hay loft in Burton is back to earth, safe in her stall.

The filly, Golden Oak, nosed open her stall and clumped up a flight of stairs into the hay loft Monday, apparently lured by the 420 bales of hay and 200 bales of straw stored there.

Horses will walk up stairs, but not down, experts say. This posed a problem: How to get Golden Oak down?

For a week, C. Albert Rowland, the filly's owner, was barraged with suggestions on how to get her out of the loft—blindfold her, use a sling, build a ramp.

A special ramp was built Sunday from the loft to the bed of a truck. Dr. Harry F. Bartels, a veterinarian, gave Golden Oak a shot of tranquilizer to calm her nerves.

With a crowd of spectators looking on the horse was blindfolded and led down the ramp without incident.

Protests Fail To Deter Use Of Old Film

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati has decided to show the old film classic "Birth of a Nation" after all.

Dean P. R. Neuffer of Evening College had canceled a showing last Thursday after protests by about 20 phone callers and by the Cincinnati United of the National Assn. For the Advancement of Colored People.

The controversial film, made in 1915, covers the period from before the Civil War through reconstruction days.

Neuffer said in a prepared statement Sunday night, "in the interest of academic freedom, it is the intention of the Evening College to reschedule the film 'Birth of a Nation' as part of the classic Silent film festival as soon as the film can be made available."

"The purpose of this series of silent film masterpieces is to trace the history of the cinema from the early 20th Century to its peak in late 1920's."

Ottawa Solon, 68, Dies

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Services will be held Tuesday for State Rep. William F. Roskar (D-Ottawa) who suffered a heart attack Friday and died Sunday in Magruder Hospital. Roskar, 68, was serving his third term in the Legislature.

How were these atrocities kept from the public outside Cuba? Havana conveyed to the outsider a scene of timeless gaiety. Elements that might have shown the true picture were trapped by censorship, lack of evidence and fear.

The local press was muzzled. Responsible foreign news correspondents could not get beyond the thin top layer of scrambled truth and scuttlebutt. The judicial arm of government was impotent. Disbelief and disinterest, ruled quarters that might have helped. Thus, say Cubans now outraged by present criticism of their military tribunals, the world was unprepared to accept as fact the scene exposed by the collapse of the Batista dictatorship.

1958 Freedoms Foundation Award Announcement Made

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. — Freedoms Foundation announced Sunday the names of American citizens, organizations and schools throughout the United States to be honored in the Foundation's annual $100,000 National and School Awards Program for their contributions in helping to bring about a better understanding of the American Way of Life during 1958.

These awardees, in the Foundation's tenth annual Awards Program were announced at special ceremonies honoring the 227th birthday of George Washington at the Foundation's Valley Forge National Headquarters, by Dr. Kenneth D. Wells, president.

Among the Ohio winners was William S. Miller, editor of The Logan Daily News. He received a second place award for a newspaper editorial under the classification of Abraham Lincoln Awards. The award includes a $100 and George Washington Honor Medal.

His editorial, displayed on page one of his newspaper, was entitled "Rights of Free Men Stand Above Mob Rule." Miller declared that "no matter how many unions are honest and well-intentioned, if there is one man in bondage... we must free that one man or be ourselves responsible for his plight..."

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, Boy Scouts of America, received the Foundation's highest honor — the George Washington Award, and a check for $5,000. The plaque citation accompanying the medal award to Dr. Schuck was presented for "his monumental contribution to our constitutional republic as the spirited, revered Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America. His fourth right patriotism, skilled administrative work and leadership by example in character building which have made 'Scouting' a beloved word in every home in America."

TB Hospital Wonders About Cash Surplus

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—What to do with a half-million dollars? That's the problem the Trumbull County Tuberculosis Hospital has asked County Prosecutor Charles H. Anderson to decide. Hospital officials said the money accumulated as operating costs and the number of patients in the hospital declined. The officials want to use the money to pay off the remainder of an $800,000 bond issue with which two hospital wings were built in 1954.

An Associated Press correspondent has dug into it, looking at the records and interviewing scores of Cubans. Robert Berrellez comes from Arizona and speaks Spanish fluently. This is the first of three stories he will write this week on the atrocities of the Batista regime and their aftermath.

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
HAVANA (AP)—Hundreds tortured or killed... scores executed in retribution...

They are figures, good round figures, and with repetition they come to have little meaning.

But behind them, getting down to individual cases, they have a shocking meaning. They are the fruit of a dictatorship and of a revolution which conquered it.

The full scope of the atrocities charged to Fulgencio Batista's police state may never be known. Fidel Castro's revolutionary government estimates 20,000 Cubans — thousands of them in no way connected with the rebellion — were tortured and killed by Batista's national police and army. Batista fled this country Jan. 1, and his government fell apart. The Castro forces took over. So far Castro's military tribunals have executed more than 300 men — former policemen and soldiers — for taking part in the Batista killings. Many more will face firing squads before the book is closed.

Whatever the verdict of history, there are piles of evidence to show the way things went under the fallen Batista's regime. His men were out to stamp out opposition and end a revolution. Civil rights meant nothing in Cuba for months.

One man alone, Maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco, was accused of responsibility for 108 victims. He died before a firing squad last Wednesday. Five of his soldiers were executed for the massacre of 19 persons at one village.

The revolutionary government made no attempt to prove its entire case against Sosa Blanco. The prosecution rested after calling 82 of its 92 witnesses. The testimony, circumstantial and direct, concerned 29 assassinations and homicides.

Nine of the victims were members of one family suspected of being rebel sympathizers, near Bayamo in Oriente province. This was the family of farm worker Martin Argote who was machine-gunned by soldiers as Sosa Blanco stood by, witnesses testified.

Miguel Llorente, the 10th person in the Argote family lineup, survived through a freakish incident — he fainted and fell a split second before the soldiers fired.

Questioned on his qualifications as an eyewitness, Llorente told the court:

"No, I didn't see the shooting. All I know is I was alive in front of the guns, expecting to be dead in minutes. Then I woke up with all the others dead around me."

The defense, seeking to show the Argotes were victims of a battle between rebels and troops, noted that the body of a soldier was found near Argote's.

But Llorente testified the soldier was executed under Sosa Blanco's orders when he balked at firing on the family.

How were these atrocities kept from the public outside Cuba? Havana conveyed to the outsider a scene of timeless gayety. Elements that might have shown the true picture were trapped by censorship, lack of evidence and fear.

The local press was muzzled. Responsible foreign news correspondents could not get beyond the thin top layer of scrambled truth and scuttlebutt. The judicial arm of government was impotent. ## Washington, Strong as Rock

George Washington, whose birthday is again celebrated, lacked Jefferson's facility of expression and was impatient of the necessities of practical politics. He accepted the presidency not as a challenging opportunity or as a fulfillment of ambition, but as a painful and unwelcome duty.

Yet this nation might not have survived its first critical years if it had not been for Washington. He exactly met the need of his time. This nation has not looked upon his like again.

Washington had two outstanding qualities—or perhaps they were different aspects of a single quality—that put him ahead and shoulders above candidates who excelled him in various other respects. He actually had the stern and monumental personal integrity epitomized in the ludicrous fable of the cherry tree. And he was the one man able to make bitterly opposed factions pull in double harness for the national interest.

George Washington, as the man of the hour in America's fight for independence, stands alone and unchallenged. His niche at the rarefied heights where genius dwells is firmly firmly fixed.

While others, even the Continental Congress, faltered, Washington fought on against as heavy odds as any man ever faced. In retrospect, he had that desperate yet resolute air about him which makes revolutions successful and wins freedom for peoples.

And all the while he had unassailable integrity and strength of character wrapped up in a form and face of heroic proportions. There is desperate need today for such a man as Washington was. But the world's crisis is approaching a climax without one.

Many Men Poorly Dressed

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—America's best-dressed men today aren't its movie stars or television idols—but its business executives.

The tired business man got this surprise pat on his well-attired back from Pat Caruso, a tailor. "The business executive today is highly style-aware," said Caruso. "Years ago he would wear anything. Now he knows exactly what he wants. Some even draw sketches of the styles they prefer."

Professional athletes also are more clothes-conscious, and the best-dressed among them are the jockeys, who also rate as the wealthiest of athletes. The reason: Most jockeys have to wear custom garments or buy children's wear. "But very few people in public life dress well," said Caruso. He added: "What can you do with a politician?"

"However, President Eisenhower

er and Vice President Nixon are exceptions."

"What about Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?"

A look of sorrow crossed Caruso's face but he maintained a discreet silence. It is an open secret among custom tailors that New York's multimillionaire chief executive patronizes a store featuring ready-made clothing.

The custom industry now suffers more from a shortage of fine tailors than customers, Caruso says. "It takes 10 to 15 years to become a good tailor," said Caruso. "I first picked up the needle at the age of 9 in my father's shop in Italy. In this country nobody wants to work that young. You can't go to college and then start to be a tailor."

"We have to import our tailors. Here are a few other observations he made:

"In Europe they laugh at the Ivy League look. They say it looks like it was sprayed on."

"A man can be well-dressed with a wardrobe of a dozen suits. But he has to buy three or four a year to keep it up."

"The things a man needs most to look well in clothes are a good tailor and a flat belly."

"The British used to be the world's best-dressed men. But most Englishmen today aren't well-dressed. They have fine fabrics but not enough good tailors."

"The best-dressed men in the world now are probably wealthy South Americans. They are the male peacocks today."

"Most doctors don't dress well. Their cars look better than their clothes."

Commie Lawyers Use Rights

By George Sokolsky

The House Committee on Un-American Activities has issued a very interesting and significant report on Communist lawyers and their activities. What comes out of this clearly is that just as some lawyers specialize in smelly but lucrative divorce cases and others specialize in advising rich thieves on how to evade SEC regulations and income tax laws, so other lawyers specialize in how the Communists may destroy the United States under its own laws.

A lawyer is a sworn officer of the Court. He has taken an oath to uphold the Constitution. If he is a member of the Communist Party, he is required to be an atheist. Therefore, his oath is no good because he has his fingers crossed when he takes it. The Committee makes this point clearly:

"A Communist operates under an iron discipline which places his party's subversive purposes above even professional and personal loyalties. No Communist, therefore, can in good faith take the oath, administered to all members of the bar, to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Some persons joined the Communist Party in the 1930's as a protest against Hitler. Some stayed in the party during World War II to aid our "ally," Soviet Russia. What is any American's excuse for remaining in this party today except that he hates the United States? Under our Constitution, an American citizen has a legal right to hate the United States, but does he have a moral right to remain in this country, to take advantage of the freedom he enjoys under the Constitution and then devote his life to the destruction of the country in the interest of another nation? In time of war, such conduct could be treason; in time of peace, it is called subversion and is protected by Supreme Court decisions.

The worst example of planned, disruptive activity on the part of such lawyers is described in the Committee's report:

"The behavior of defense counsel in the Smith Act trial of the 11 top Communist Party officials in New York in 1949 was in complete accord with the Communist Party courtroom strategy outlined above."

"Throughout the 7-month trial of the Communist leaders charged with conspiracy to advocate forcible overthrow of the United States Government, a group of defense lawyers indulged in a spectacular display of abusive and disruptive conduct. These lawyers, it became apparent, were determined to break up the legal proceedings by any means and to introduce Communist propaganda at every opening as long as the trial should continue. In pursuing these tactics, counsel were observed to pass up actual opportunities to benefit their clients' case. Presiding Judge Harold Medina declared at one point in the trial that 'The amount of disorder and contemptuous behavior I have witnessed here is beyond anything I could have thought possible in an American court.'"

These lawyers acted according to a pattern which was so uniform that it is impossible to believe that it was not premeditated and arranged. The object clearly was to bring the American court, our judicial system contemptuously before the world. Only the unbelievable patience of Judge Harold Medina prevented these graduates of American colleges and law schools from succeeding.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities in this report cites the National Lawyers Guild as a Communist Party appendage and calls attention to the fact that the Guild campaigned for the following:

"1. Abolition of Congressional committees assigned to the task of coping with subversion in the United States;

"2. Curbing of the investigative powers of the Federal Bureau of Investigation;

"3. Emasculation of the recent statute which grants immunity to any witness called before a committee or a Federal grand jury if the witness furnishes information regarding subversive activities;

"4. Repeal of the Smith Act prohibiting teaching or advocacy of forcible overthrow of the United States Government;

"5. Discontinuance of the Attorney General's listings of subversive organizations;

"6. Repeal of the Internal Security Act and the Walter-McCarran Immigration Act;

"7. Unrestricted issuance of passports to subversive individuals;

"8. Repeal of the Federal employment loyalty-security program;

"9. Limitations on the right of the Defense Department to discharge subversives from the Armed Forces."

This pamphlet includes the names and biographies of the principal Communist lawyers of the United States. It is a document worth reading by those who do not believe that the Communist Party in the United States died with Stalin.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are three tantalizing questions in Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's willingness to create a crisis over his demand that the Allies get out of West Berlin.

1. Why did he do it picking May 27 as a virtual deadline and Berlin as the place?

2. Is he willing to have a showdown with the West—even if it means war?

3. Is this the only crisis he has in mind for the West—or is it just the beginning of a series?

West Berlin, 110 miles inside Communist East Germany, represents many things which, added up, must provide a big headache to the Soviets.

It is a Western outpost and listening post deep within the Communist world, although its residents give their allegiance to West Germany.

It is a harbor for refugees from communism. Its glitter is a reminder to East Germans and East Europeans that living standards are higher in the West.

And the 10,000 troops the Allies have in West Berlin, through World War II agreement with the Soviets, are a symbol of Western power and authority behind the Iron Curtain.

These are all irritating reasons which may make Khrushchev want to get the Allied troops out of the city's Western zone.

If the Allies agreed to that—and right now they talk as if they won't—their grip on West Berlin would crumble.

Khrushchev's thinking may go way beyond these things. He may be using Berlin as an excuse to force the Allies into much broader concessions, such as demilitarizing West Germany.

There is something to be remembered about Berlin. Getting the Allies out of there is not something which has just occurred to the Soviets.

Stalin tried to force the Allies out in 1948 by blockading the city against supplies from the West. President Truman broke that with the airlift.

From that day to this—as if they had decided to subside until they were a lot stronger—the Soviets had not precipitated a frontal crisis with the West in Europe.

They are a lot stronger now, as their Sputniks show. Now Khrushchev may feel able to continue the unfinished work of Stalin who tried one maneuver after another to break the West's will to resist.

Before the blockade of Berlin, Stalin tried to intimidate Greece and Turkey. And just four months before the Berlin blockade, Czechoslovakia was made part of the Soviet bloc by Communist seizure from within.

There can be only guessing now as to whether Khrushchev is willing to go to war over Berlin or, if the Allies back down there, whether he'll put the heat on again somewhere else.

There seems a good reason for his being unwilling to take the U.S.S.R. into war over Berlin; he indicated it Saturday when British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived in Moscow.

Khrushchev said then the Soviets are embarking on a great building program and don't want war.

One thing he seems to have accomplished already: he has shaken the Allies on their rigid policy of standing stiff with no concessions.

Already—three months before the May 27 deadline—there is talk in the Allied world of some concessions and the need for more flexibility.

By making a demand and setting a deadline Khrushchev has taken the initiative and is keeping the Allies jittery and guessing.

IS THIS THE RUB?—There may be a rub going on between the Soviet and Red China in sparsely populated Mongolia, which virtually is a Soviet satellite. Red China lent Mongolia a pile of rubles in 1956. Now some 10,000 Red Chinese technicians are believed there, with more on the way, because there was another loan and an economic aid pact recently, calling for building a couple of power plants and some bridges and other modernizing installations. Red China has more than 600 million people, Mongolia only a million, which is about one and three-quarters persons per square mile. In fact, there are more yaks there than people. So Mongolia would make a fine settlement for some of Red China's excess population. What does Moscow think? (Central Press)

ANOTHER RECORD YEAR OF PROGRESS FOR WESTERN AND SOUTHERN LIFE

Nineteen hundred and fifty-eight was an outstanding year of growth and service for Western and Southern. Assets in excess of $906 million reached an all-time high. This amount represents an increase during the year of more than $85 million. Total insurance in force surpassed $4.5 billion. This was an increase for the year of more than $503 million.

Now with offices on both coasts your Company is proud to report a further extension of its operations. A new modern Home Office building was opened. Over 7,600 Western and Southern men and women pledged to a common goal co-ordinate their efforts at the Home Office in Cincinnati and in our Regional Offices in Philadelphia, Asheville, St. Louis, Galveston and Los Angeles and in 300 Sales and Service offices throughout the country.

The record achieved in 1958 is a tribute to the loyalty and efficiency of the officers, employees and agents of the Company. The results attained reflect the confidence in the service and management of Western and Southern by our more than 5,900,000 policyholders. We dedicate our purpose to the high ideals and principles which have guided Western and Southern through the past 71 years.

Washington, Strong as Rock

George Washington, whose birthday is again celebrated, lacked Jefferson's facility of expression and was impatient of the necessities of practical politics. He accepted the presidency not as a challenging opportunity or as a fulfillment of ambition, but as a painful and unwelcome duty.

Yet this nation might not have survived its first critical years if it had not been for Washington. He exactly met the need of his time. This nation has not looked upon his like again.

Washington had two outstanding qualities—perhaps they were different aspects of a single quality—that put him ahead and shoulders above candidates who excelled him in various other respects. He actually had the stern and monumental personal integrity epitomized in the ludicrous fable of the cherry tree. And he was the one man able to make bitterly opposed factions pull in double harness for the national interest.

George Washington, as the man of the hour in America's fight for independence, stands alone and unchallenged. His niche at the rarefied heights where genius dwells is firmly fixed.

While others, even the Continental Congress, faltered, Washington fought on against as heavy odds as any man ever faced. In retrospect, he had that desperate yet resolute air about him which makes revolutions successful and wins freedom for peoples.

And all the while he had unassailable integrity and strength of character wrapped up in a form and face of heroic proportions.

There is desperate need today for such a man as Washington was. But the world's crisis is approaching a climax without one.

Many Men Poorly Dressed

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—America's best-dressed men today aren't its movie stars or television idols—but its business executives.

The tired business man got this surprise pat on his well-attired back from Pat Caruso, a tailor. "The business executive today is highly style-aware," said Caruso. "Years ago he would wear anything. Now he knows exactly what he wants. Some even draw sketches of the styles they prefer."

Professional athletes also are more clothes-conscious, and the best-dressed among them are the jockeys, who also rate as the wealthiest of athletes. The reason: Most jockeys have to wear custom garments or buy children's wear. "But very few people in public life dress well," said Caruso. He added: "What can you do with a politician?"

"However, President Eisenhower

er and Vice President Nixon are exceptions."

"What about Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?"

Ohio Opinion Is 'Mixed' On Capital Punishment

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"Mixed" is the most popular— and perhaps most accurate—word being used these days to describe Ohioans' reaction to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's proposal to abolish capital punishment.

An Associated Press grass-roots survey in widely scattered areas of Ohio, however, bring the reaction picture into this focus:

If a decision on the issue were left to police chiefs, sheriffs and common pleas judges, Ohio would continue to exact "an eye for an eye." It would continue its policy of legally killing those guilty of premeditated murder or those who slay on-duty policemen.

But, if the decision were left to average citizens and their clergymen, Ohio probably would abolish the death penalty.

It would appear, then, that if DiSalle's proposed abolition is decided by the Legislature, it possibly could lose—because opinions of public officials usually carry more weight with legislators than the opinions of miscellaneous citizens.

On the other hand, if the decision were to go to the voters, a ban on the use of Ohio's electric chair probably would stand a better chance.

This creates a strange situation: The governor has told newsmen he believes it is the Legislature's responsibility to make the decision. Yet, apparently, he is more likely to get his proposal approved if it goes to a vote of the people. The House Judiciary Committee opens hearings Wednesday morning on two bills to end the death penalty.

Some of the pro-and-con arguments the committee hears will be similar to these comments gleaned from scores of interviews by Associated Press newspapers across the state:

The Rev. Sidney McCammon, pastor of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension, Middletown, quoting from the Book of Common Prayer:

"God desireth not the death of a sinner, but rather that he may turn from wickedness and live." Mahoning County Common Pleas

Judge Erskine Maiden Jr.: "Capital punishment should not be a part of our modern civilization; it accomplishes nothing and does not deter crime."

Scioto County Sheriff C. Russell Burns: "Fear of the death penalty has stopped many would-be murderers. I don't think most states that have abolished capital punishment are satisfied with the new setup."

Canton Police Chief J. B. Quilligan: "Governments down through the ages have accepted capital punishment to maintain law and order. Sometimes it is only just and realistic punishment to fit the crime."

Lorain businessman Martin J. Mariotti: "I have always opposed the death penalty. It really doesn't accomplish anything worthwhile."

Massillon Mayor Edgar L. Lash: "I am against capital punishment, but if it is to be abolished, I think the entire penal structure in Ohio should be stiffened to provide greater deterrent to crime."

Marion County Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith: "I probably would be for the law as it is, but I think every precaution must be taken to prevent error."

Pickaway County Common Pleas Judge William Ammer: "Never in the history of the state has there been any evidence whatsoever to show that a mistake was made in the cases of the 307 persons who have died in the electric chair."

Mrs. Walter Wendt Jr., a young Middletown mother: "Even if one of my own family had been murdered, I still think I'd favor severe punishment for the guilty rather than taking a life for a life."

While that is a fair sampling of statewide sentiment, people do change their minds. Take, for instance, Gov. DiSalle, who first recommended as a substitute for the death penalty a life sentence "without hope, without parole, without pardon."

It didn't take the governor long to decide the "without hope" suggestion was hasty and ill-advised.

Such a policy would develop a breed of desperate people, he acknowledged after he had thought it over.

Whereupon, Ohio's penal officials breathed a private sigh of relief.

1st First Lady Didn't Have an Index on Prices

Martha Washington's Living Costs Hard To Determine Now

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—George and Martha Washington didn't have a government consumer price index to tell them if their living costs were rising.

They never even heard of that sort of government activity. A lot of the things you buy cost them much less. A lot of things you use they never heard of.

The government has just told us that it cost a bit more to live in January than it did in December. The classic way of comparing today's high prices with the past is to ask: How much did a dozen eggs, a quart of milk, a loaf of bread cost in President Washington's day? The answers are counted upon to floor you.

But look at it for a moment. Mrs. Washington had bread baked in her own kitchen. The cost—involving freer slave labor—is hard to compute. If she had bought a loaf in the store, it wouldn't have been sliced, nor stuffed with vitamins (about which she knew only instinctively), nor wrapped in waxed paper.

Mrs. Washington probably did not buy milk in the store or from a delivery man. If she had, it wouldn't have been in either bottles or cartons, and certainly not pasteurized or homogenized.

If she ever bought eggs in a store they wouldn't have been tipped in a carton, and candied and dated to guarantee they wouldn't hatch before she used them.

The vagaries of the winter weather didn't affect the Washingtons' diet of fresh fruit, vegetables and salads. If they had these items in the winter they probably were out of the root cellar—if they were frozen, it would have been a catastrophe.

Gen. Washington didn't fret about rail commutation fares going up periodically, or bus rides costing more. But if he wanted to go from Mount Vernon to Boston, say, by stage coach, it was a costly business in terms of time consumed and wear and tear on his body structure.

At Mount Vernon they had their own slaughter house and smoke house. How much their meat cost we can't be sure. But could they buy up bargains at the supermarket and store them in a deep freezer? Packaged or maybe pre-cooked?

Maybe there's no government index that really tells you how good the good old days were.

Open Door Policy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The court-house staff of the county's Democratic sheriff breathed a sigh of relief when a fellow party member was elected county recorder. The new recorder promised to unlock the door of a rest room the Republican incumbent had refused to share with the Democrats.

In 1956 the Navy established radio stations in the Antarctic at Little America (KC4USA), McMurdo Sound (KC4USV), and Marie Byrd Land (KC4USB). The latter is the first radio station in history to be at the South Pole.

The first and second degrees will be conferred at the next meeting on March 3. Practice for the Grange contest will be held on February 26 at the Grange hall.

'Mrs. America' Contest Entries Now Available

Do you think you're "just a housewife"?

Well, don't sell yourself short. Those homemaking skills that make up a major part of your everyday life could be worth more than $15,000!

Yes, prizes worth that amount are awaiting the winner of the annual search for the nation's outstanding "housewife", opened today by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. with an invitation to Circleville homemakers to enter the 21st "Mrs. America" contest.

Douglas Cotterman, local manager for Ohio Fuel, announced that entry blanks for the national contest are available at the gas company, 134 N. Court St. All entries must be in by March 31, he said.

The "Mrs. America" contest is open to all married women. Winners will be chosen at local, district, state, and national levels, Cotterman said.

"While good grooming is a factor, this is not a beauty contest," Cotterman emphasized. Judges will be looking primarily for contestants' skills as homemakers — with judging at each level based on homemaking ability, personality and poise, character, grooming, and community activities.

Last year, Mrs. Doyle Painter, 1010 Lynwood Ave., won the "Mrs. Circleville" contest and advanced to the Athens finals. A "Mrs. Circleville" will be selected early in April this year.

The district contest winner will receive an automatic gas range worth $500, and a trip to the state finals in Columbus to compete for the "Mrs. Ohio" title. The runner-up in the district contest will win an outdoor gas light for the yard or patio of her home, with free installation by Ohio Fuel.

The homemaker named "Mrs. Ohio" will win an expense-paid, two-week trip for herself and her husband to the national "Mrs. America" finals in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in June.

She also will receive a gas refrigerator, gas laundry equipment, a set of matched luggage, and other prizes. Runner-up in the state contest also will win major gas appliances.

A number of other prizes will be awarded at the state finals to winners of individual contests. These events will include: top burner cooking, yeast baking, main dish preparation, garment dyeing, table setting, menu planning and clothes laundering.

Marooned Family Survives 3 Days on Tiny Beacon

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Leslie Schmidt and his young family, marooned three days last week on a tiny beacon in the Gulf of Mexico, lived to tell about it.

But Leslie, 23, wrote a pathetic little diary to let relatives know what happened to them. He "knew" he and his wife and three children would die there within sight of the shore, he said Sunday.

"We wrote the diary so that when they found our bones they'd know what happened," Schmidt said at the hospital where he, his wife, Sarah, 22, and the children — Leslie Jr., 3, Linda Lee, 2, and Cheryl, 10 months — are recovering.

Crewmen of a passing shrimp boat, the Carroll Ann, snatched the hungry, cold and sick family from the tiny navigation light Saturday afternoon.

The Schmidts scrambled onto the light, just 7 miles from downtown Corpus Christi, Wednesday after their 26-foot cabin cruiser broke up in heavy seas that lashed Corpus Christi Bay. Schmidt was returning to Port Aransas from Port Mansfield after going there on an abortive commercial fishing venture.

Mrs. Schmidt tied a line to the sinking boat as her husband threatened it to the beacon. They traded place and she took Linda Lee up 15 feet to the small platform atop the beacon.

"I tied her there and went down for Cheryl Lynn," related Mrs. Schmidt. "By the time we got Leslie Jr. up top, the boat was gone and everything we owned, except a half can of milk and that can of baby food."

"I said a prayer up every rung of that ladder," she recalled. Schmidt stepped clear of the cruiser with Leslie Jr., just as the boat went under.

Then the long vigil, the prayers, and the frustration began. Every morning an oil crew boat passed with 100 yards, the couple said. "They never saw us, although we yelled at them," Schmidt said.

"I prayed all the time," Mrs. Schmidt added, "and God must have been with us. He saved us."

'Mrs. America' Contest Entries Now Available

Do you think you're "just a housewife"?

Well, don't sell yourself short. Those homemaking skills that make up a major part of your everyday life could be worth more than $15,000!

Yes, prizes worth that amount are awaiting the winner of the annual search for the nation's outstanding "housewife", opened today by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. with an invitation to Circleville homemakers to enter the 21st "Mrs. America" contest.

Douglas Cotterman, local manager for Ohio Fuel, announced that entry blanks for the national contest are available at the gas company, 134 N. Court St. All entries must be in by March 31, he said.

The "Mrs. America" contest is open to all married women. Winners will be chosen at local, district, state, and national levels, Cotterman said.

"While good grooming is a factor, this is not a beauty contest," Cotterman emphasized. Judges will be looking primarily for contestants' skills as homemakers — with judging at each level based on homemaking ability, personality and poise, character, grooming, and community activities.

Last year, Mrs. Doyle Painter, 1010 Lynnwood Ave., won the "Mrs. Circleville" contest and advanced to the Athens finals. A "Mrs. Circleville" will be selected early in April this year.

The district contest winner will receive an automatic gas range worth $500, and a trip to the state finals in Columbus to compete for the "Mrs. Ohio" title. The runner-up in the district contest will win an outdoor gas light for the yard or patio of her home, with free installation by Ohio Fuel.

The homemaker named "Mrs. Ohio" will win an expense-paid, two-week trip for herself and her husband to the national "Mrs. America" finals in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in June.

She also will receive a gas refrigerator, gas laundry equipment, a set of matched luggage, and other prizes. Runner-up in the state contest also will win major gas appliances.

A number of other prizes will be awarded at the state finals to winners of individual contests. These events will include: top burner cooking, yeast baking, main dish preparation, garment dyeing, table setting, menu planning and clothes laundering.

The homemaker named "Mrs. America" at the national finals will win prizes worth more than $15,000, including a complete kitchen, chest of silver, organ, water softener, aluminum ware, home modernization products, aluminum boat with outboard motor and boat trailer, swimming pool, two-week

Florida vacation, expense-paid tour of South America, and other valuable gifts.

Run-up to "Mrs. America" will receive a free vacation for herself and her husband, including transportation, at the Wisconsin Dells region, and many other awards.

Goose grease used to be found in most medicine chests. For a long time, it was a common remedy for chest colds and pneumonia. The high mortality rate of lung patients proves how ineffective this remedy was. Modern medications—particularly the antibiotics—have drastically reduced the death toll of pneumonia victims, shortened hospital stays and relieved untold pain and suffering. Remember this when you're ill: effective medicines may mean the difference between pain and comfort... between life and death. So, don't medicate yourself. Let your physician do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then come to us for any medications he may recommend.

Scioto, Williamsport In Lower Bracket

Darby Twp. yesterday at Otterbein College's Barlow Hall was chosen the top seeded quint in the Central Ohio Class A District Tournament to be held at two sites, Otterbein College, Westerville, and Marion Coliseum.

The Trojans, winners of the Pickaway County Tournament and co-holders of the league title, were the choice of all 12 coaches of the Otterbein tourney at the drawing held Sunday afternoon.

The Central Ohio District is divided between the two coliseums. A total of 24 teams will participate. There will be two regional representatives from this district. One will travel to Athens and the other to Troy.

Other seeded teams at the Otterbein district are Columbus Rosary, Franklin County League and tourney winners, second seeded with 11 votes.

PICKERINGTON, co-winners of the Fairfield County League and outright victors of its tourney, with 10 votes, and Lynwood - Jackson-town, Licking County, with eight votes.

The tourney will switch to the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum for the two-game finals March 6. The top bracket winners from Marion will meet the bottom bracket victor from Otterbein.

The second finale will pit the bottom bracket winner from Marion against the top bracket finalist from Otterbein. Darby landed in the top bracket, while Williamsport and Scioto were placed in the bottom bracket.

The 20-1 Trojans will meet the winner of the Pleasantville Columbus St. Marys contest at 7 p. m. Thursday. Williamsport will face the Licking Heights - Columbus Rosary victor at 7 p. m. Friday.

The Scioto Buffaloes start county competition in the tourney when they meet Granville at 8:30 p. m. Wednesday. The Deers and the Trojans draw byes in the first round drawing.

The Otterbein district now shapes up as being a formidable tournament as its 12 teams have an overall record of 186 wins against 60 losses. The Marion district teams have 159 wins and 72 losses.

GRANVILLE and Newark St. Francis flipped a coin to decide which team would go where. Both squads were non-county representatives to the district and of equal distance to both tourneys.

Newark (18-2) entered the Marion district and became the top seeded team along with Marion County powers, Ridgedale (20-3) and Prospect (17-3).

St. Francis would have probably been fourth-seeded in the Otterbein district, since Darby, Pickerington and Rosary have 20-1 records.

Pleasantville (15-6) faces St. Marys (14-7) tomorrow night to start the Otterbein action. Second game of the evening pits Carroll (12-9), against Jonathan Alder (10-9).

Wednesday the Scioto (15-4)-Granville (15-4) game follows the

10 Major Leagues To Crown Kings in Another 6 Days

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It'll take a bit of parlaying here and there, but within the next six days the NCAA can have 10 more major conference teams all prettily packaged for its championship basketball extravaganza next month.

The major conference representatives make up 17 of the 24 berths for the NCAA's version of basketball's March madness and so far only three have been decided.

From Eastern Kentucky of the Ohio Valley, Texas Christian of the Southwest, and Kansas State of the Big Eight, the list can balloon to include teams from the Ivy League, and the Yankee Border, Southeastern, Big 10, Rocky Mountain, Pacific Coast, Mid-American, Southern and West Coast A.A. Conferences before the week is out.

Although six more "at large" entries remain to be named—Marquette is the only one picked so far—it's the conference slate that draws attention, and for good reason. No at large entry has won the NCAA championship since the ill-fated CCNY club of 1950.

It was Kentucky's turn again last year and the Wildcats are one of the teams that can learn their fate within a week. Although they smashed Auburn's 39-game winning streak in a 75-56 show of strength last Saturday night, the Wildcats are still on tender hooks in the Southeastern Conference scramble.

Cross out Auburn, although it shares top spot with Mississippi State at 11-1 to 10-2 for Kentucky. Auburn loses out because it is on NCAA probation.

If Mississippi State holds its edge over Kentucky, the Maroons have the NCAA berth if they want it. They may not because of the Mississippi custom of not playing racially integrated teams. If they refuse, Kentucky gets the nod.

The other races hinge purely on competition. Here's a rundown: IVY LEAGUE—Dartmouth (11-0) clinches if it beats runner-up Princeton (10-1) Friday and Penn Saturday.

YANKEE—Connecticut (7-2) has a tie clinched and winds title if second place Rhode Island (5-3) losses to Massachusetts Saturday. If not, the UConn settle it against Rhode Island March 7.

BORDER—Arizona State U. (7-2) can clinch tie by beating New Mexico State tonight. Texas Western, 5-2 with three games remaining, has chance.

BIG 10—Michigan State (9-2) has clinched tie, needs one victory in three games for title. Plays Indiana Saturday afternoon.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN—Idaho State (7-1) has two chances to clinch—against Colorado Mines Friday and same team on Saturday.

PACIFIC COAST—California (10-2) wins by sweeping Oregon State, Southern California and Washington State this week. Washington (10-3), but beaten twice by California) in running.

MID-AMERICAN—Miami, Ohio, can clinch by beating Ohio U. Tuesday and Kent State Saturday.

BOWLING GREEN, 8-3 to Miami's 8-1, challenges.

WEST COAST A.A.—St. Mary's of California (9-0) needs one more victory in three games remaining. Plays College of Pacific tomorrow, San Jose Friday.

Tigers Drop 57-54 Tourney Test to London Cage Quint

Unable to hold a slim lead midway in the fourth quarter, The Circleville Tigers were eliminated from the Central District Class AA cage tournament by a 57-54 loss to London Saturday night at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus.

Circleville commanded a 46-39 lead with about five minutes remaining in the game, but could not stem a London unrising in the final stages. It was a discouraging defeat for the Tigers who clawed and fought throughout to stay on even terms with the tall and agile opponents.

With some nifty shooting by Don Rowland, Jake Bailey, Asa Elsea and Larry Hannahs, the Tigers zoomed to a 11-10 lead in the first quarter.

Not to be outdone, London countered in the second quarter to take a 25-20 halftime lead, due mainly to the shooting of Forward Roger Reynolds. Circleville's nine-point total in this frame was produced by Bailey and Joe Adkins with five and four respectively.

BOTH TEAMS cut loose with barrages in the third quarter, with CHS getting 18 points and London 14. The period ended with London still holding a narrow 39-38 edge.

Circleville's third frame attack was paced by Rowland's three arching long shots, two jumps and a foul shot by Elsea, two buckets from under by Hannahs and a one-hander and a foul shot by Bailey. Gale Dillon's three baskets set the stride for London.

A minute after the fourth quarter started, Bailey fired a jump shot to send the Tigers into a 40-39 lead. Elsea quickly followed suit with a jump from the side. Hannahs, slowed by four personal fouls, jammed one in from underneath, then added two successive foul shots to give CHS a 46-39 margin, the locals' largest advantage of the evening.

However, this lead did not last long as London came rumbling back to count 13 points and a 52-ia, unbeaten in loop since 1955, favored.

That leaves the Missouri Valley, Skyline, Middle Atlantic and Atlantic Coast races still to be determined. Cincinnati leads the MVC with 9-0 to Bradley's 8-2 with five games remaining to Bradley's four. Utah's 9-1 record gives it a half game edge over Denver (9-2) in the Skyline with four left for the Utes and three for Denver.

The Middle-Atlantic berth is all set for St. Joseph's, Pa. if the Hawks beat Lehigh on March 4 or Muhlenberg on March 7.

The ACC, like the Southern, fills its NCAA berth from its own post-season tournament—beginning March 5 in Raleigh. North Carolina, despite its loss to Maryland in a 69-51 shocker Saturday, remains the favorite.

46 margin before the Tigers could dent the hoop. Dick Garrison sparked the enemy drive with three buckets.

Hannahs finally got CHS back in the ballgame with two foul shots to make the score read, 52-48, with about two minutes remaining.

Action hit a torrid pace in the last minute when Bailey dropped in two foul tosses as did Rowland to run the count to 53-52 in favor of London. Trying desperately to get the ball, the Tigers were set back by two successive fouls against them.

LONDON'S Roger Reynolds and Garrison capitalized on the situation, each sinking two charities to give their squad a 57-52 advantage. Circleville got the ball once more before the buzzer and Bailey connected for two on a circus drive in to end all scoring for the evening.

London enjoyed a definite height advantage, especially in the form of Dick Meade, a 6-8 pivot man. Although Meade towered above him, Hannahs matched the big center rebound - for - rebound and point - for - point. Each collected 12 tallies.

Bailey walked off with scoring honors for CHS, netting 17 points on six buckets and five foul shots. His goal came on some neat drives and accurate push shots. He also turned in a steady defensive game.

Rowland came through with five goals and two foul shots, with most of his buckets coming from outside. Elsea, hitting on jump shots, tallied nine.

Roger Reynolds was high for London with 17 points, nine of them counted at the foul line. Garrison ended with 13.

Circleville chalked a 38.8 per cent shooting average for the evening, the result of 21 goals in 54 attempts. London, relying on the foul line, garnered 19 buckets in 57 tries for a 33 per cent mark.

The winners clinched the win by sinking 19 of 28 foul shots. Circleville had 11 of 23.

New Generation Of Golfers Looms

NEW YORK (AP)—When Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen were the undisputed rulers of American golf, players like Leo Diegel, Tommy Armour and Johnny Farrell occasionally would break into their monopoly.

In the heyday of Lawson Little and Byron Nelson, up-and-coming Sam Snead and Ben Hogan gave them plenty of trouble.

This year Arnold Palmer and Ken Venturi, two exciting young professionals appear ready to blossom out in a rivalry like that of Jones-Hagen or Snead-Hogan. But they can't shake off fellows like Gene Littler, Art Wall, Mary Furgol or even rookie Joe Campbell.

After seven tournaments on the 1959 winter pro tour, Littler seems ready to resume the place he held in his first few pro seasons and make it at least a Big Three this year. With two victories in a row at Phoenix and Tucson, Gene apparently has regained the form he mysteriously lost a couple of years ago.

Palmer, in his fourth professional season, was the leading golf money winner of 1958. He won the coveted Masters title and two other tournaments and an official pot of $42,607.50. So far this winter, he has won the Palm Springs Invitational Tournament and has been in the top ten three other times. At 29, Palmer is the oldest of the trio. Littler, who preceded him by a year as national amateur champion, is 28 and Venturi is 27.

Venturi, like Palmer, was a success from the start of his pro career in 1957. And he was No. 3 on the money list last year. He started this season by winning the Los Angeles Open. Then he slumped a bit, finishing out of the money at Phoenix and barely making it at Tucson. That happens to him very rarely.

Littler did very well for a couple of years, placing second to Ed Furgol in the 1954 open championship and fifth on the money list in 1955. Then two years ago, his game unaccountably went sour, though he insists it wasn't because of changing his swing. This winter it seems to have come back.

Challenging these three are Finsterwald the 29-year-old PGA champion who has won around $30,000 a year for the past three seasons, 35-year-old Wall and 41-year-old Furgol.

Finsterwald hasn't been a real threat this year. But Wall, who usually plays his best golf in mid-summer, has collected an amazing $11,630 in official prize money in a month and a half.

High Scoring Wolf

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Junior Wolf, a 183-pound 6-foot-2 Kiowa Indian, had a big day for Panhandle A. and M. when that team trounced St. Mary's of Dodge City, Kan., 81-18. Wolf scored eight touchdowns for 48 points and a new National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics game record.

Washington Holds Cage Banquet

The auditorium of Washington School was decorated with purple and white pennants bearing the names of the Junior High basketball team and cheerleaders who were the honored guests at the Parent Teachers Organization sponsored basketball banquet Thursday night.

Miniature basketball shoes with photograph inserts of the guests served as program covers for the tables decorated in school colors.

Following the carry-in dinner awards and letters were presented by Coach, Charles Turner. Those receiving awards were:

Team spirit and reserve strength are especially needed for a successful ball club. He particularly emphasized the necessity for the right mental and emotional attitude toward the game, the opponents and the officials on the part of both the players and the fans.

Walton Spangler, president of PTO, served as toastmaster for the occasion. The hall was decorated by Mrs. Emmitt Hinton and her entourage of Mrs. Ora Benner, Mrs. Carl Wiggins and Miss Ruth Stout.

New Generation Of Golfers Looms

NEW YORK (AP)—When Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen were the undisputed rulers of American golf, players like Leo Diegel, Tommy Armour and Johnny Farrell occasionally would break into their monopoly.

In the heyday of Lawson Little and Byron Nelson, up-and-coming Sam Snead and Ben Hogan gave them plenty of trouble.

This year Arnold Palmer and Ken Venturi, two exciting young professionals appear ready to blossom out in a rivalry like that of Jones-Hagen or Snead-Hogan. But they can't shake off fellows like Gene Littler, Art Wall, Mary Furgol or even rookie Joe Campbell.

After seven tournaments on the 1959 winter pro tour, Littler seems ready to resume the place he held in his first few pro seasons and make it at least a Big Three this year. With two victories in a row at Phoenix and Tucson, Gene apparently has regained the form he mysteriously lost a couple of years ago.

Palmer, in his fourth professional season, was the leading money winner of 1958. He won the coveted Masters title and two other tournaments and an official pot of $42,607.50. So far this winter, he has won the Palm Springs Invitational Tournament and has been in the top ten three other times. At 29, Palmer is the oldest of the trio. Littler, who preceded him by a year as national amateur champion, is 28 and Venturi is 27.

Venturi, like Palmer, was a success from the start of his pro career in 1957. And he was No. 3 on the money list last year. He started this season by winning the Los Angeles Open. Then he slumped a bit, finishing out of the money at Phoenix and barely making it at Tucson. That happens to him very rarely.

Littler did very well for a couple of years, placing second to Ed Furgol in the 1954 open championship and fifth on the money list in 1955. Then two years ago, his game unaccountably went sour, though he insists it wasn't because of changing his swing. This winter it seems to have come back.

Challenging these three are Finsterwald the 29-year-old PGA champion who has won around $30,000 a year for the past three seasons, 35-year-old Wall and 41-year-old Furgol.

Finsterwald hasn't been a real threat this year. But Wall, who usually plays his best golf in mid-summer, has collected an amazing $11,630 in official prize money in a month and a half.

High Scoring Wolf

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Junior Wolf, a 183-pound 6-foot-2 Kiowa Indian, had a big day for Panhandle A. and M. when that team trounced St. Mary's of Dodge City, Kan., 81-18. Wolf scored eight touchdowns for 48 points and a new National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics game record.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

She's Young and Foolish

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and my parents don't want me to go steady. I think it is because they don't understand what "going steady" really means. They think just because a boy gives a girl a ring, it is the same thing as getting engaged. It's really only having a special boyfriend or girlfriend instead of changing around. What's wrong with having one particular boyfriend or girlfriend? Maybe you can explain it better, Abby?

WANTING TO GO STEADY
DEAR WANTED: "Going steady" (or promising to belong to one person) at age 13 (when one's judgment is not mature enough for an intelligent choice) is foolish and dangerous. The "steady" can become a habit. Too much familiarity breeds trouble. It's far healthier (and more fun) to play the field and make comparisons.

DEAR ABBY: This is for any girl who thinks she should marry the father of her baby to give it a name. I lived in one of those families for thirty years. My father had to marry my mother. They despised each other every minute of those years. My family never did anything together. No church, no recreation, no nothing. At the present time my brother is in a mental institution because his childhood was so warped. My sister married the first man who asked her (just to get out of the house.) She was 17 and a real beauty and he was 33 and a drunken bum. Now, would any woman wish that kind of life on her unborn child? No reply necessary.

"A VICTIM"

DEAR ABBY: I lost my dear mother eight months ago and everyone in my family knows I am in mourning. My relatives keep right on sending me invitations for confirmations, graduations and weddings where they dance. They know perfectly well I am in mourning and will not attend any of these affairs. Yet they send me invitations because they want me to send a gift, but I will not do so at this time. Do you think it is proper for people to send invitations they know will not be accepted?

IN MOURNING
DEAR "IN MOURNING": I see nothing improper in sending relatives who are in mourning invitations to graduations, confirmations and weddings.

DEAR ABBY: We are a young married couple with a two-year-old son and we want to buy a house trailer. It seems that everyone we talk to is against it. We have looked at some beautiful house trailers and it seems like an ideal way for us to live. We don't want to make a mistake. Maybe some of your readers could give us the benefit of their experience? We would certainly appreciate it. Think you.

L.S.
DEAR L.S.: I have no personal experience regarding house trailers, but I have seen some beautiful trailer court communities. Why not ask a dealer to take you out and let you meet a few families who are presently living in one?

CONFIDENTIAL TO JIM: Beware of INCOMPATIBILITY. When you lose your INCOME, your wife will lose her PATIBILITY.

75 Soldiers of Washington's Army Lie in Pickaway Soil

Today our nation celebrates the birthday of George Washington, soldier, statesman, revered "father of his country".

Indeed, the struggle of the 13 colonies for self-determination launched an era of wars and revolutions that seems to have no end. The shouts of "liberty", "freedom", "independence" echo in the corridors of time, not likely ever to diminish, the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution reminded today.

Merely reading the events that happened so many years ago, one hardly feels the distress and anxiety that encompassed the colonies. One admires, at a distance, the fortitude and tenacity of the ragged huddle at Valley Forge. One is mildly ruffled at the mass desertions that caused whole armies to melt away. Problems of provisioning soldiers were sometimes solved. Closing this chapter of history the reader might pause in wonder at how independence was ever accomplished.

However, the Revolution was successful, and the new Americans returned to their homes. Approximately 75 soldiers of this war are interred in Pickaway County, eight in Circleville at either the High St. or Forest Cemeteries. Many of these graves in the county have been marked by the Pickaway Plains Chapter DAR in tribute to the men who sleep beneath.

The one figure that towered above all the others of the Revolutionary War was the one who was "first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen".

FOR A CITIZEN soldier, George Washington possessed unusual military acumen. His battles at Trenton and Princeton, N. J., the winter of 1776 and 1777 were praised by Frederick the Great as being the greatest campaign of that century. The Battle of Yorktown was planned and executed by Washington.

The war ended, the country availed itself of his statesmanship. His attendance at the Constitutional Convention in 1787 carried great weight with the delegates.

Business Briefs

The first "turnpike-proved" tires, tested on a scientist's race track in the Texas desert constructed for speeds up to 140 miles per hour, have arrived in Circleville.

Dave McDonald, of Mac's Tires & Appliances, said today all passenger tire lines being shipped to him by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. have been tested and proved on the "turnpike that never ends" near San Angelo, Texas.

Goodyear completed construction of the five-mile, high-speed test track in May, 1958. The banked, high-speed circle was designed by tire development engineers and research scientists.

Goodyear officials claim its all-out tire testing program last year, using the 140 mile an hour turnpike as the acid test for passenger tires, has upgraded tire mileage potential by 25 percent.

and his support for the Constitution during the campaign for ratification aided its final approval.

Following closely the purposes of the Constitution and the needs of the nation, he, as first president, steered a careful course. To the office he brought dignity. In selecting cabinet officers, he balanced the two parties that had risen, but in time, leaned further toward the Federalists and a firm central authority.

Washington's foreign policy was characterized by prudence in not becoming embroiled in quarrels across the Atlantic. He thus refrained from committing the young country, barely able to support itself, to a war which could only end disastrously. Bitterly assailed and denounced by the opposition, Washington retired to Mt. Vernon somewhat disillusioned, but still retaining the warmest regards of his countrymen.

"It will be the duty of the historian and the sage of all nations to let no occasion pass of commemorating this illustrious man, and until time shall be no more, will a test of the progress which our race has made in wisdom and virtue, be derived from the veneration paid to the immortal name of Washington."

One might expect such a tribute to have come from the pen of an American, but the words were written by Lord Brougham of England.

"Double R" Ranch Sued in Federal Court

Remick Music Corporation recently filed suit for copyright infringement against Riddle's "Double R" Ranch, located southeast of here, on Route 56 near Adelphi.

The Remick Corporation, a publisher member of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, alleged that its copyrighted song was performed without authorization at the Riddle establishment.

Actor, 4 Kiddies, Sailing to Tahiti

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden and his four children are 2,600 miles on their voyage to Tahiti. They still have 1,000 miles to go.

Attorneys for Hayden's ex-wife, Mrs. Betty de Noon Hayden, say they have been advised that Hayden's schooner has reached Tahiti in the Marquesas Islands.

Hayden, who sailed from Sausalito near San Francisco Jan. 18, had been given custody of his children in a legal battle with his ex-wife. But the court had forbidden him to take the children to Tahiti because the judge considered the trip dangerous.

75 Soldiers of Washington's Army Lie in Pickaway Soil

Today our nation celebrates the birthday of George Washington, soldier, statesman, revered "father of his country."

Indeed, the struggle of the 13 colonies for self-determination launched an era of wars and revolutions that seems to have no end. The shouts of "liberty", "freedom", "independence" echo in the corridors of time, not likely ever to diminish, the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution reminded today.

Merely reading the events that happened so many years ago, one hardly feels the distress and anxiety that encompassed the colonies. One admires, at a distance, the fortitude and tenacity of the ragged huddle at Valley Forge. One is mildly ruffled at the mass desertions that caused whole armies to melt away. Problems of provisioning soldiers were sometimes solved. Closing this chapter of history the reader might pause in wonder at how independence was ever accomplished.

However, the Revolution was successful, and the new Americans returned to their homes. Approximately 75 soldiers of this war are interred in Pickaway County, eight in Circleville at either the High St. or Forest Cemeteries. Many of these graves in the county have been marked by the Pickaway Plains Chapter DAR in tribute to the men who sleep beneath.

The one figure that towered above all the others of the Revolutionary War was the one who was "first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

FOR A CITIZEN soldier, George Washington possessed unusual military acumen. His battles at Trenton and Princeton, N. J. the winter of 1776 and 1777 were praised by Frederick the Great as being the greatest campaign of that century. The Battle of Yorktown was planned and executed by Washington.

The war ended, the country availed itself of his statesmanship. His attendance at the Constitutional Convention in 1787 carried great weight with the delegates.

Business Briefs

The first "turnpike-proved" tires, tested on a scientist's race track in the Texas desert constructed for speeds up to 140 miles per hour, have arrived in Circleville. Dave McDonald, of Mac's Tires & Appliances, said today all passenger tire lines being shipped to him by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. have been tested and proved on the "turnpike that never ends" near San Angelo, Texas.

Goodyear completed construction of the five-mile, high-speed test track in May, 1958. The banked, high-speed circle was designed by tire development engineers and research scientists.

Goodyear officials claim its all-out tire testing program last year, using the 140 mile an hour turnpike as the acid test for passenger tires, has upgraded tire mileage potential by 25 percent.

and his support for the Constitution during the campaign for ratification aided its final approval.

Following closely the purposes of the Constitution and the needs of the nation, he, as first president, steered a careful course. To the office he brought dignity. In selecting cabinet officers, he balanced the two parties that had risen, but in time, leaned further toward the Federalists and a firm central authority.

Washington's foreign policy was characterized by prudence in not becoming embroiled in quarrels across the Atlantic. He thus refrained from committing the young country, barely able to support itself, to a war which could only end disastrously. Bitterly assailed and denounced by the opposition, Washington retired to Mt. Vernon somewhat disillusioned, but still retaining the warmest regards of his countrymen.

"It will be the duty of the historian and the sage of all nations to let no occasion pass of commemorating this illustrious man, and until time shall be no more, will a test of the progress which our race has made in wisdom and virtue, be derived from the veneration paid to the immortal name of Washington."

One might expect such a tribute to have come from the pen of an American, but the words were written by Lord Brougham of England.
